Kansas Linux Fest (KLF) is an annual event dedicated to free and open source software as well as open knowledge and education. 2019 marks the fourth annual event and will be held in Wichita, Kansas Aug 9-11th.

As a KLF sponsor you have the potential to reach a diverse group of people! KLF attendees come in all ages, levels of tech experience, and share a common passion for free and open source software and projects. Past Fests have seen attendees from many of the larger metropolitan areas of Kansas (Wichita, Kansas City, Lawrence, Manhattan) as well as several smaller/rural areas. Additionally, several surrounding states (Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Texas) were represented.
Kansas Linux Fest is planned by a small, but dedicated group of volunteers.

KLF 2019 Schedule:
- Friday evening Movie Night as a casual opening to KLF.
- Saturday will kick off with a Keynote presentation followed by various breakout sessions throughout the day. Break-out sessions are generally talks covering a specific open-source project or topic and are given by volunteer speakers. The day's events will wrap late-afternoon/early evening.
- Saturday night KLF attendees often get together for informal after hours meet-ups at local restaurants.
- Sunday is a partial day starting in the morning and wrapping with a round of Lightning Talks before Lunch.
